

Daily Economic Briefing

Edition 16 • Tuesday 9 September 2026 • Covering Tue 8 Sept session (first post-Labor Day trading day)
Cutoff: approx. 20:15 ET 8 Sept / 00:15 UTC 9 Sept • Prepared for Alex

Corrections, conflicts and status

Scheduler: 9th consecutive clean fire (last_fired_at 2026-09-09T00:08:36Z, approx. 8 min after 00:00 UTC slot; no duplicate, no gap).^[38] Fed Chair: Kevin Warsh confirmed unchanged via federalreserve.gov Board bios page.^[24] Commodity cross-source conflicts: Oil, gold and silver settlements showed meaningful cross-source dispersion this edition (Brent $97.46–99.39; gold $4,350–4,439; silver $65.76–67.00 across Investrade, Trading Economics, CBS News, OilPrice.com). Body uses Investrade/AP figures for consistency with prior editions; Trading Economics alternatives in Annex A.^{[2][23][36]} FICO resolved: -16.68% on Fri 4 Sept (pinning edition 15's approx. -15% to -21% range) via StockAnalysis.com historical data.^[3] Copper ATH: Bloomberg and FXStreet both reported a new record on 8 Sept (LME above $14,530/tonne), but COMEX close ($6.69) was below the confirmed $6.7270 ATH; MetalCharts intraday $6.73 would be a marginal new high if confirmed. Flagged unresolved.^{[34][35]} Trigger prompt: still contains retired Step 5 GitHub/Telegram language (now 10 editions: 7–16). Continuing to hold per edition 9's judgment call.

S&P 500 7,673.52 -0.58%	Dow 52,786.07 -1.18%	Nasdaq 26,421.41 -0.32%	Russell 2000 2,960.20 -0.52%	VIX 15.72 +8.2%
10Y Yield 4.80% +1.2bp	WTI $93.03 +1.7%	Brent $97.92 +1.7%	Gold $4,439 -0.8%	DXY 98.83 -0.35%

60-Second Read

- Hormuz on three fronts. Houthi-Saudi exchange wounded 73, US sank 5 Iranian tankers, Iran plans exclusion zone.^{[4][5][6][7]} Brent $97.92 (intraday $99.50—nearly $100), WTI $93.03.^[2] Diesel nearing $6/gal.^[37]
- Novartis double trial failure. Del-desiran (DM1) and pelacarsen (Lp(a)HORIZON) both missed primary endpoints. NVS -13.93%.^[3] Lp(a) class contagion: Amgen -10.08%; Healthcare worst sector (-2.52%).^{[3][13]}
- GPT-6 Astra reprices SaaS. OpenAI's computer-use agent (72.6% task completion) threatens enterprise moats.^[12] NOW -4.99%, INTU -4.14%, CRM -3.90%—declined 3.1x the S&P Software index.^{[3][12]}
- Canada tariffs go live. Approx. $27.6bn CAD, 15–50% on 700+ products, took effect 12:01 AM EDT.^{[21][22]} CAD 3-week high; DXY -0.35% to 98.83.^{[23][32]}
- Intel +9.05% on Amazon AI chip deal. Multi-generational custom partnership.^[11] Bloom Energy +9.63% on S&P 500 inclusion effective 21 Sept.^[10]

1 Market Recap

All four major indexes fell on the post-Labor Day return.^[1] The Dow led losses (-1.18%) dragged by healthcare and financials; the Nasdaq held up best (-0.32%) as the Intel/Qualcomm AI-chip rally offset the SaaS selloff. Only 2 of 11 SPDR sectors gained: Energy (+1.11%) on the oil surge and Utilities (+0.86%) on defensive rotation. Healthcare was the worst (-2.52%) on Novartis drug-trial failures, followed by Financials (-1.38%).^[3] Breadth was weak: the Russell 2000 underperformed the Nasdaq by 20bp, consistent with a risk-off session rather than a rotation into small caps.

2 Equities and Earnings

Single-Stock Movers — Tue 8 Sept 2026

Key movers

Novartis (NVS) -13.93% to $137.70: Two Phase 3 failures in one day. Del-desiran's HARBOR trial for myotonic dystrophy type 1 (acquired via the $12B Avidity purchase) failed its primary endpoint. Separately, pelacarsen's Lp(a)HORIZON cardiovascular outcome trial also missed.^[9] Amgen (AMGN) -10.08% to $393.17: class contagion—Amgen's olpasiran targets the same Lp(a) pathway; Citi warned "the Lp(a) hypothesis itself may be flawed."^[13] Ionis (IONS) -2.38% on jeopardized pelacarsen milestone payments.^[3]

SaaS repricing on GPT-6 Astra: OpenAI unveiled GPT-6 Astra on 3–4 Sept with computer-use capabilities (form-filling, CRM updating, web research) at a 72.6% task-completion rate versus GPT-5.6 Sol's 65.7%.^[12] ServiceNow (NOW) -4.99%, Intuit (INTU) -4.14%, Salesforce (CRM) -3.90%—the three declined 3.1x more than the broader S&P Software & Services Index (-1.4%).^{[3][12]}

Intel (INTC) +9.05% to $104.47: Amazon/AWS announced a multi-generational custom AI chip partnership.^[11] Qualcomm (QCOM) +3.17% on the same deal. Bloom Energy (BE) +9.63% to $277.22: named as an S&P 500 addition effective 21 Sept, replacing Molson Coors (TAP). Also added: Illumina (ILMN), Everpure (P). Also removed: Trade Desk (TTD), Builders FirstSource (BLDR).^[10]

Roivant (ROIV) +18.75% to $41.48: Phase 2 PHocus trial of mosliciguat for pulmonary hypertension showed 56% reduction in vascular resistance; Phase 3 PHrontier unveiled.^[9] Tesla (TSLA) +3.98% to $368.16: bounce from prior weakness; no specific catalyst. Lululemon (LULU) +2.56% to $103.19: dead-cat bounce after Friday's -17.38% collapse; still near 8-year lows.^[3] FICO $933.30 (+0.11%): essentially flat, no recovery bounce; confirms the -16.68% Friday decline (resolving edition 15's range).^[3]

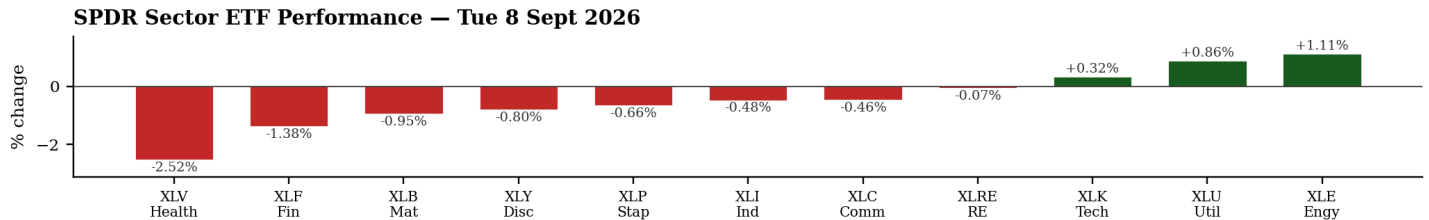

Other notables: GE Aerospace announced an $11.75B acquisition of Consolidated Precision Products (CPP); GE -0.66%.^[17] NextEra Energy (NEE) +0.48% on a $1.9B DOE loan to restart the Duane Arnold nuclear center (Google deal).^[18] Peloton (PTON) -6.67%; specific catalyst unclear.^[3]

3 Macro, Policy and Rates

NFIB August Small Business Optimism: 98.7 vs 99.3 consensus (prior 99.8)—a miss, decline roughly twice as large as expected. Dunkelberg: "Uncertainty remains elevated...weakened sales, supply chain disruptions, and inflation pressures."^[19]

Consumer Credit (July): +$18.1B vs +$11.7B consensus. Non-revolving credit surged $15.3B (largest monthly jump in 3+ years). Credit card debt hit a record $1.357T at a 22.15% average rate, signaling consumer stress beneath the headline beat.^[20]

Yields: 10Y 4.796% (+1.2bp), 2Y 4.40% (+2.1bp), 30Y 5.25% (-0.6bp)—a modest bear flattening.^{[21][23]} Official H.15 par yields not yet posted (holiday delay; due Wed 9 Sept).

Sept-16 FOMC: hike odds edged up from edition 15's coin-flip. CME approx. 59%, Kalshi 53.5%, Polymarket 54.5%.^[23] The payrolls beat continues to percolate; Thursday's PPI and Friday's CPI are now viewed as the decisive inputs. FOMC blackout began Sat 5 Sept—no Fed speakers until 17 Sept.^[25]

Canada tariffs: Approx. $27.6bn CAD in counter-tariffs took effect 12:01 AM EDT on 8 Sept. Rates of 15–50% across 700+ product categories; steel/aluminum/iron doubled to 50%.^{[21][22]} Canada launched a $5.42B business-support package. PM Carney: "dollar for dollar." Trump demanded a boycott of Bombardier via Truth Social.^[22]

4 Commodities and FX

Oil: WTI $93.03 (+1.69%), Brent $97.92 (+1.70%), Brent intraday high $99.50 (AP)—nearly $100/bbl.^{[1][2]} Three drivers: (a) Houthi attacks on Saudi oil infrastructure wounded 73, Saudi retaliated (worst exchange since the 2022 truce collapsed);^{[6][7]} (b) US destroyed 5 Iranian tankers linked to the IRGC;^[4] (c) Iran announced plans for a maritime exclusion zone near the Strait, where traffic is down to approx. 10 ships/day (lowest since May).^{[5][8]} Iran also claimed capture of a US unmanned submarine.^[8] US diesel nearing $6/gal national average; the $5.85 record set 4 Sept already breached at wholesale.^[37]

Gold $4,439/oz (-0.84%); silver $67.00/oz (+0.38%).^[2] Gold fell despite the geopolitical heat—the payrolls overhang and Fed-hike repricing kept real-rate expectations elevated enough to offset safe-haven demand. Cross-source conflict: Trading Economics reported gold $4,350 and silver $65.76 (see Annex A).^[23]

Copper $6.69/lb close (+1.39%).^[23] Intraday possibly $6.73 (MetalCharts^[34]), which would marginally exceed the $6.7270 ATH confirmed at edition 15.

FXStreet/Commerzbank noted LME briefly above $14,530/tonne and cited Chile supply disruptions.^[35] Natural gas $2.90/MMBtu (-2.2%).^[23]

FX: DXY 98.83 (-0.35%)—the dollar weakened on Canada-tariff retaliation uncertainty despite the payrolls tailwind. EUR/USD 1.1620 (-0.02%), USD/JPY 153.98 (-0.24%, yen intraday as strong as 152.89), GBP/USD 1.3541 (flat), USD/CAD approx. 1.3803 (CAD strengthened to a 3-week high on the tariff announcement).^{[23][32]} AUD/USD 0.7214 (-0.06%). Bitcoin approx. $78,500–79,100 (-1.5% to -1.7%)—slipped below $79K on the payrolls overhang and rising yields.^[33]

5 Derivatives, Volatility and Positioning

VIX 15.72 (+8.2% from edition 15's 14.53 session close; providers show +2.75% daily vs a 15.30 Labor Day indicative prior).^[26] Full contango: VIX9D 14.81 < VIX 15.72 < VIX3M 18.39 < VIX6M 20.34. All four series carried fresh 8 Sept timestamps—second consecutive all-fresh sweep.^[26]

VIX9D surged +23.73% from deeply suppressed holiday levels (implied prior approx. 11.97). VIX3M moved more than VIX in percentage terms (+4.43% vs +2.75%), meaning the curve steepened slightly in the 30D–3M segment. VVIX 88.69 (+5.1%): modestly elevated demand for VIX tails but not extreme (compare 100+ in stress). OVX 48.59 (+8.1%): oil vol spiked on the Hormuz/Saudi developments.^[26] SKEW unverifiable for 8 Sept (last confirmed: 144.12 on 2 Sept).

Oracle (ORCL): Thu 10 Sept after close.^[29] Options-implied move 11.78% weekly, 13.27% monthly (OptionSlam^[28]). Historical mean 13.93%. ORCL closed $162.52 (+2.36%); Yahoo flagged "unusual options activity."^{[3][11]} The last quarter (Jun FY26 Q4) opened -10.72%.

Funding: SOFR stable at 3.65% (4 Sept; 8 Sept publishes Tue morning). ON RRP $626M, near zero—the facility is essentially wound down from $2.5T+ at peak.^[27]

CoT: last data as of 1 Sept (edition 15's chart #2). Next report Fri 12 Sept.^[30]

6 The Day Ahead

Wed 9 Sept: No major US data releases.^[31] China August CPI due (consensus +0.9% y/y, prior +0.5%). Markets will digest the AH earnings reactions (ServiceTitan -20%, Casey's approx. -10%, Braze approx. -10%).

This week's known catalysts

Date	Event	Prior / consensus
Thu 10 Sept	PPI (August)	July: flat m/m, +4.7% y/y headline
Thu 10 Sept	Weekly jobless claims
Thu 10 Sept	ECB rate decision	25bp hike expected
Thu 10 Sept PM	Oracle (ORCL) Q1 FY27	Implied move 11.78%; last quarter -10.72%
Fri 11 Sept	CPI (August)	July: +0.1% m/m, +3.4% y/y headline
Fri 11 Sept	UMich prelim September	Aug final: 51.7; 1Y infl. exp. 4.0%

15–16 Sept	FOMC meeting + SEP + press conf.	Hike/hold approx. 55/45; blackout in effect
17 Sept	BOE rate decision	Hold at 3.75% expected
17–18 Sept	BOJ rate decision	Hike to 1.25% increasingly likely

Sector setup heading into mid-week

- Energy: Brent within $1 of $100. Long positioning is crowded, but supply disruptions (Hormuz, Saudi) are real and worsening. A diplomacy headline would trigger a sharp pullback; absent that, $100 looks likely within days.
- Healthcare: Lp(a) class reassessment could drag further if FDA commentary surfaces. NVS may attract bargain-hunters, but a -14% gap on a trial failure rarely fills quickly.
- Tech: AI-capex winners (INTC, QCOM) vs SaaS losers (NOW, INTU, CRM)—the fork widened again. ServiceTitan's -20% AH adds to the guidance-miss-punishment pattern.
- Oracle: Thursday's single-stock event. 11.78% implied, 13.93% historical average, last quarter gapped -10.7%. Skew likely put-heavy.
- Macro: CPI on Friday is the FOMC-deciding print. Thursday's PPI sets the stage. A hot CPI locks in the hike; a soft print reopens the hold case and could reprice the entire rate complex in one session.

Annex A — What Could Not Be Verified

1. Official H.15 par yields (8 Sept): not posted due to Labor Day delay. Body uses secondary-market levels from Trading Economics and Investrade.

2. Gold/silver settlement conflict: Investrade reported gold $4,439 (-0.84%) and silver $67.00 (+0.38%); Trading Economics reported gold $4,350.08 (-1.25%) and silver $65.76 (-0.58%). The approx. $90 gold and $1.24 silver discrepancies likely reflect spot-vs-futures or different settlement timestamps. Body uses Investrade for consistency with prior editions.

3. Oil close conflict: Brent ranged $97.46 (CBS News) to $99.39 (Trading Economics); WTI $93.03 (Investrade) to $94.24 (Trading Economics). Body uses Investrade/AP figures. The $99.50 intraday high is AP-sourced.

4. Copper ATH: Bloomberg and FXStreet reported a new record on 8 Sept. MetalCharts showed intraday $6.73 (vs confirmed $6.7270 ATH). COMEX close $6.69 was below the ATH. Unresolved.

5. SKEW: Google Finance showed a June-dated stale figure; Yahoo Finance returned 404. Last confirmed: 144.12 (2 Sept).

6. CBOE CDN JSON endpoint: blocked by agent proxy this edition (cdn.cboe.com:443 denied). VIX data sourced from Google Finance instead.
7. SOFR (8 Sept): publishes Tue 9 Sept approx. 8 AM ET. Last available: 3.65% (4 Sept).

8. Precise NYSE/Nasdaq breadth: unavailable (persistent).

9. CBOE daily put/call ratio: unavailable (persistent).

10. MOVE index: unavailable (persistent).

11. Dow point-change discrepancy: -626.72 (Investrade) vs -628.18 (AP). Both within rounding range.

12. Peloton (PTON) -6.67% catalyst: specific driver for the 8 Sept decline not identified from available sources.

13. Bitcoin close conflict: Coinpedia $78,564.71 vs CoinStats approx. $79,115. Reported as a range.

14. Diesel national average (8 Sept): Sept 4 record $5.85/gal confirmed; wholesale surged further but no new AAA daily figure for 8 Sept. Next EIA weekly due 9 Sept.

15. GameStop close discrepancy: Benzinga $19.37 (+1.10%) vs StockAnalysis $18.89 (-1.41%). Body uses StockAnalysis.
